Dedication

Dr. Otis Bernard Edwards began his teaching career in a private school in Montgomery, Alabama, in the year 1924. He taught there for several years before he was invited to join the staff at Oakwood College. Concerning his reaction to the invitation he stated, "Although unmistakable joy had come to me in the years that I had taught, when President J.A. Tucker extended an invitation from the Board of Trustees for me to continue in my chosen profession as a faculty member on the Oakwood campus, I accepted. I regarded teaching as an art that propagated clear thinking and contributed to the development of wholesome character. Hence, motivated by a deep devotion to the proper development of youth and knowing that Oakwood College was a Christian center where thousands would assemble, I came."

Since his arrival on our campus he has served as Dean of Men, Chairman of the Music Department, Head of the Division of Social Sciences and assistant to the president of the college.

This great educator has been very instrumental in helping youth at Oakwood College in the development of their mental and spiritual powers. He has been a great incentive to those who are preparing for leadership in the world.

Dr. Edwards, because we appreciate the services that you are rendering to us, we dedicate the 1968 edition of the ACORN to you.

Dr. Otis Bernard Edwards

President of
Oakwood College

Frank W. Hale, Jr., B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

President's Message

Dear Oakwoodite:

Although Oakwood College has climbed a hill seventy-two years high to reach this point in its progress, this institution has no intention of declaring its race ended by coming to a state of rest. If the current developments in our nation and world are harbingers of increased social problems as we observe the shallow conditions of aimlessness, restlessness, frivolity, immorality and rebellion, then Oakwood must sturdy itself to move forward to meet the struggles against complacency and conformity.

Oakwood's vigor is nourished by its individuality, and that individuality comes from its spiritual frame of reference. Ours was a good beginning, because our forebearers began with God. No revolutionary concept then, yet quite remote from the prevailing academic ideology of today.

This look ahead, this devotion to an ideal, this vision of its worldwide mission was neither sudden nor fleeting. Nor must it be so now. The contesting spheres of academia must never dim our sense of priorities.

But the endless task of planning for the future is ever before us. We, therefore, challenge trustees, administrators, faculty, alumni and students to join with us and embark upon the harrowing journey of probing into the misty unknown, to seek as best we can new directions for progress at Oakwood College.

Foreword

After seventy-two years of successful operation, we can testify of the rapid growth and expansion of Oakwood College. Founded in 1896 as the Oakwood Industrial School, it later developed as a Senior Liberal Arts College accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and approved by the Seventh-day Adventist Board of Regents. It is also a member of the United Negro College Fund.

The staff of the 1968 Acorn has chosen as its theme "Progress." It is our desire that as you survey the contents of this book you will catch glimpses of the progressive development in all areas of the college program.

Faculty

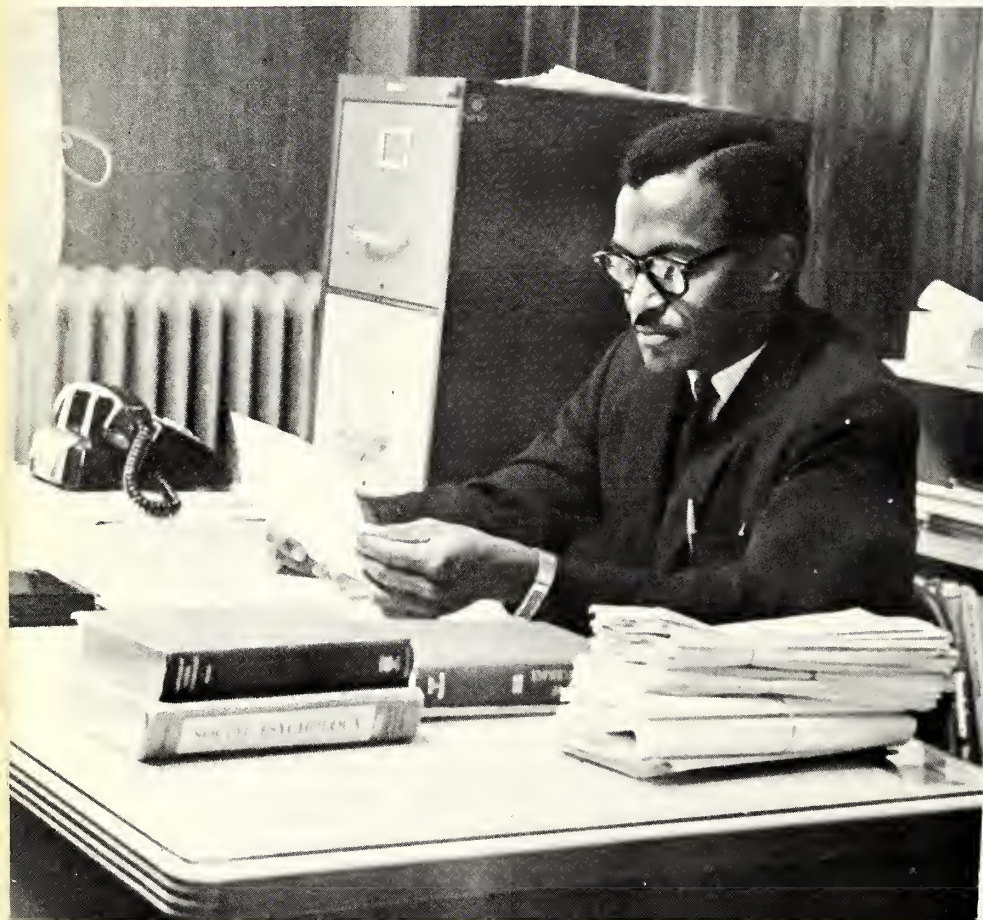

These two teacher-scientists are representative of the illustrious, still pursuing, still achieving faculty of Oakwood College.

Behavioral Science

The object of this program is to allow the student to become acquainted with the principles, facts, approaches, and methods of the discipline; to provide him with an understanding of psychology and sociology as sciences of behavior, and to improve his insight into his own behavior and that of others. It also seeks to introduce the student to the concepts and methods used in psychological and sociological research.

Dr. Adams leaves for home after her class in Personality.

Earl M. Gooding, Ph.D.
Professor of Behavioral Science

Clora D. Young, M.SW.
Instructor in Sociology

Music Department

"Musical training is a more potent instrument than any other, because rhythm and harmony find their way into the inward places of the soul, on which they mightily fashion." - Plato

The courses in the department of music are designed not only to develop an intelligent and appreciative attitude toward music but also to guide students who need training to become teachers, performers, and musical leaders in Christian service.

Jon Robertson, M.S.
Assistant Professor of Music

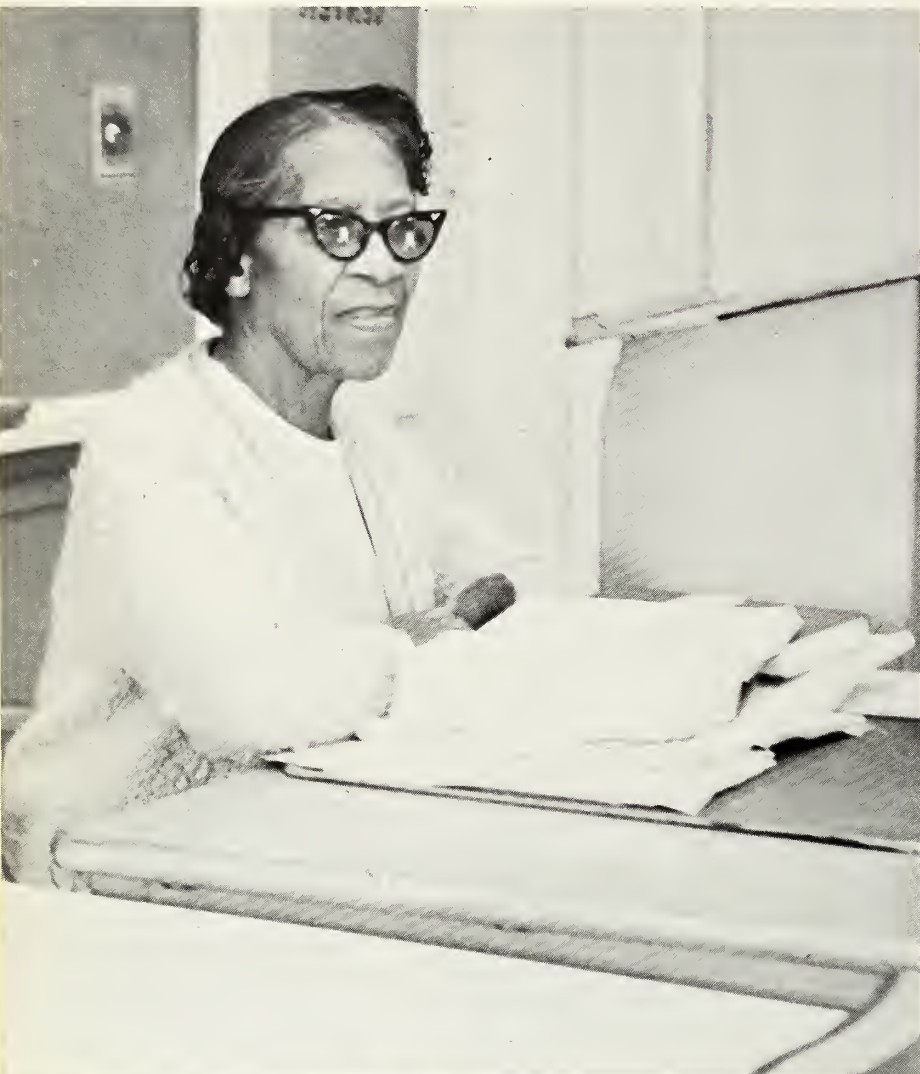

Alyne Dumas Lee
Artist in Residence

Harold L. Anthony, M.A.
Assistant Professor of Music

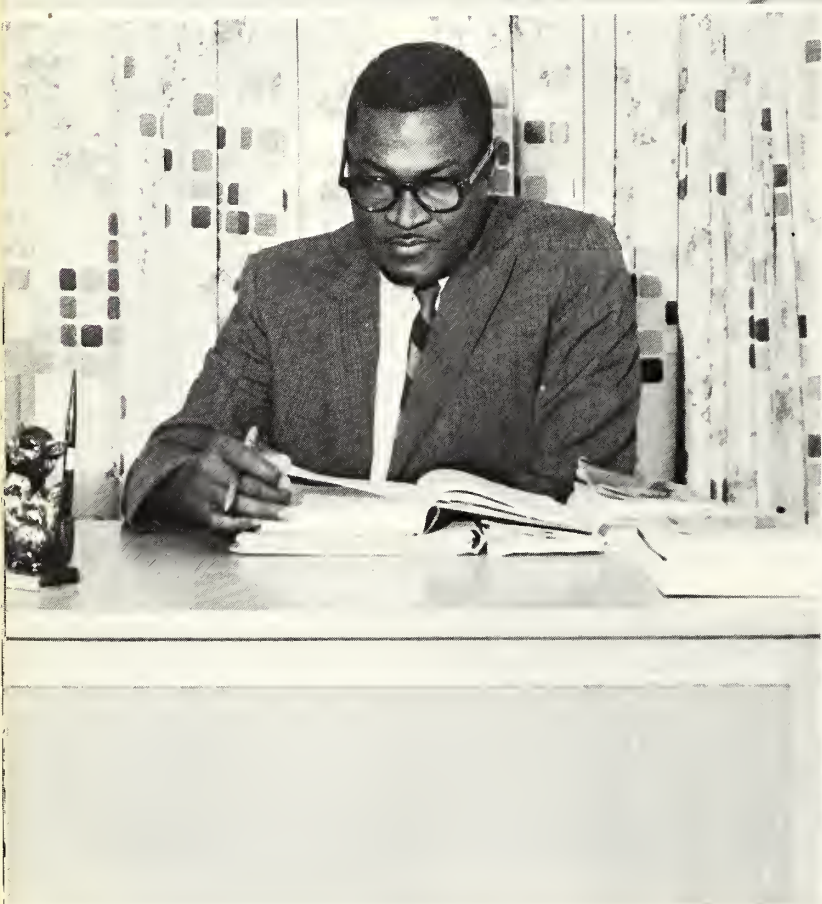

Inez Booth, M.A.
Associate Professor of Piano and Organ

Dr. Dykes is ready for her English Literature class.

English

Lloyd Mulraine, M.A.—Instructor in English
Professor Mulraine prepares for his World Literature class.

Frankie Clay, M.S.—Instructor in English
Mrs. Clay gives instruction to her secretary.

The purpose of the English Department is to train the student to express himself correctly and effectively. Remedial classes, or workshops, are conducted for the purpose of aiding all of the students who need assistance in any phase of English.

Since English is the tool of the student for expressing himself on all occasions, the faculty has adopted the plan of "Co-operation." Each teacher is alert to the oral and written expression of the student in every class and outside the classroom as well.

History Department

The instruction offered by this department brings before the student the best in human achievement during various periods, develops his vision, and prepares him to meet present-day problems with a degree of intelligence. In political science the student traces the development and functions of national and local governments and their relationship to progressive civilization.

Otis B. Edwards, Ph.D.
Professor of History

Dr. Edwards pauses in his Church History class.

Murray J. Harvey, M. Litt.
Associate Professor of History

Prof. Harvey instructs his Western Civilization class.

Education

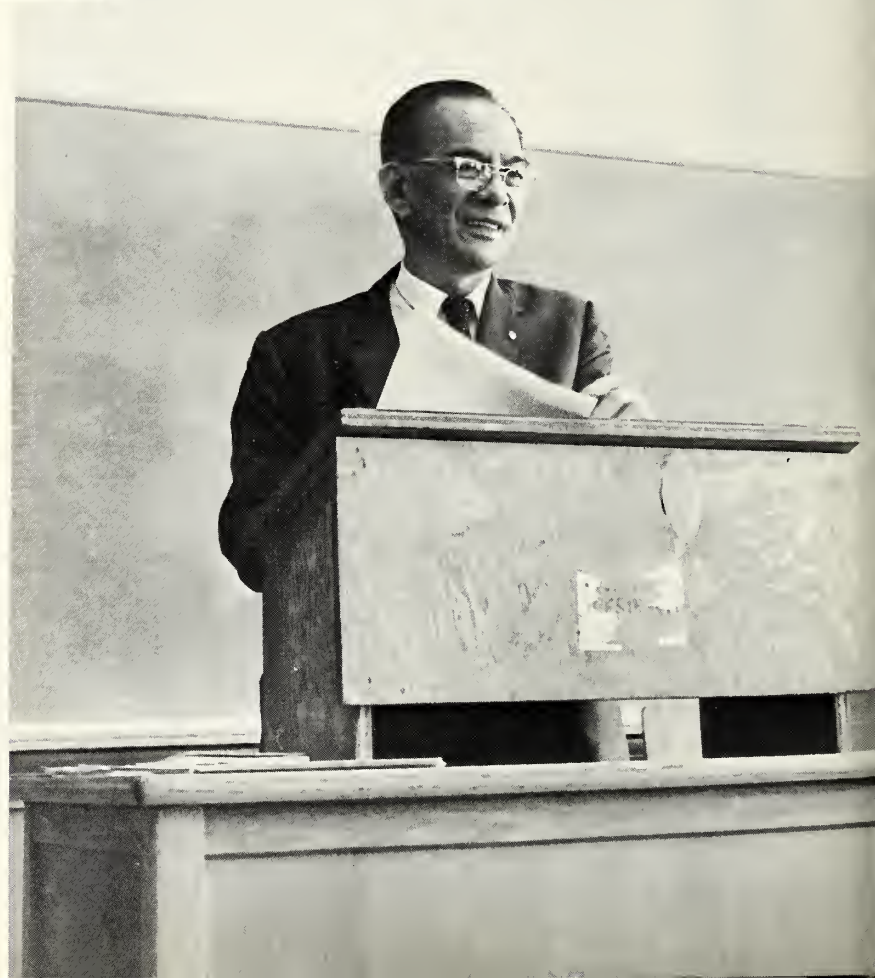

Oakwood College attempts to offer a well-balanced and comprehensive program leading to the bachelor degree for students who desire to become qualified and competent members of the teaching profession. This program is especially designed for training teachers who will teach in schools provided by the church, but it also prepares persons to teach in other systems.

The program of teacher training meets the standards for certification with the Department of Education of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists and the Alabama State Board of Education.

Sciences

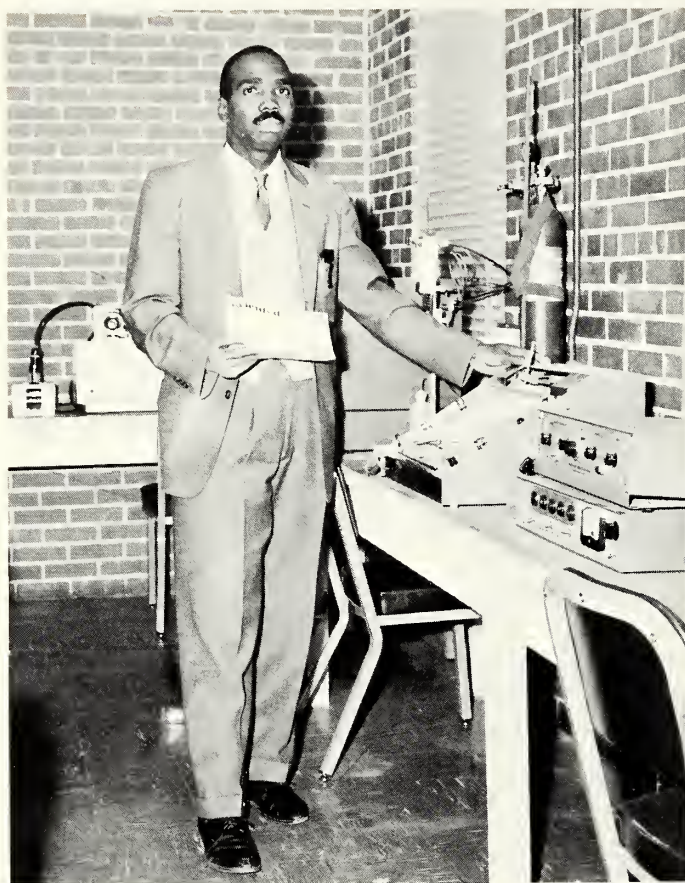

The aim of this department is to provide a technical, liberal, and ethical education which will equip young men and women with skills and knowledge necessary for business and economic competence. The department seeks to encourage qualified students to prepare for the teaching of business subjects on the secondary level. A certificate is presented at the completion of the two-year business curriculum.

Marvin Anderson, B.A.
Instructor in Business

Rosa Taylor, B.S.
Assistant Instructor in Secretarial Science

Chemistry

This curriculum is designed to give our students the rigorous training that will qualify them to fill positions in high schools as chemistry instructors, and in the chemical industry as chemists; to satisfy the course requirements for medicine, dentistry, nursing and home economics.

Emerson A. Cooper, Ph.D.
Head of Department

Horace Walker is to discover a new element in lab.

Department

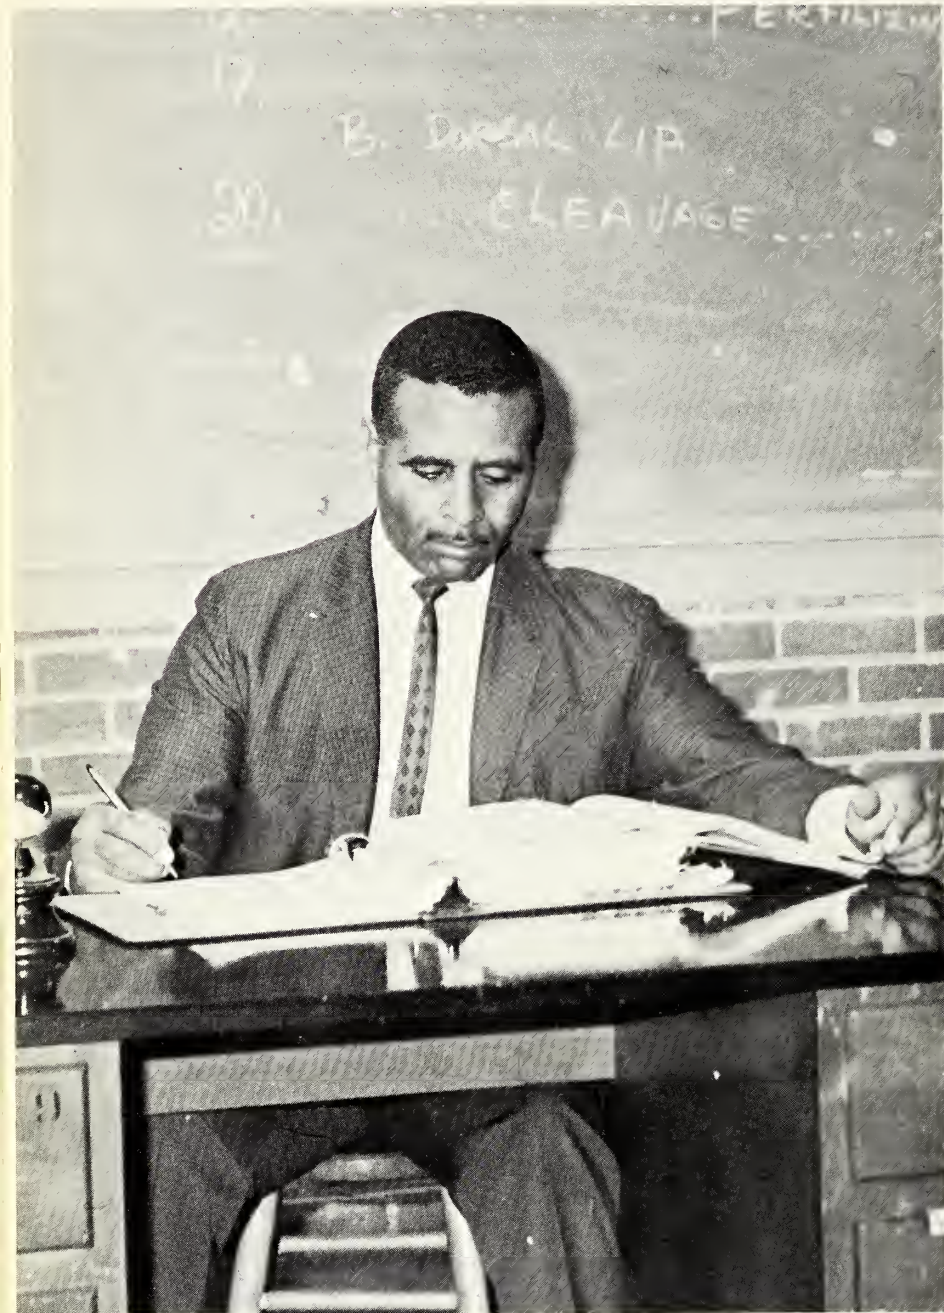

David Richardson, M.S.
Instructor in Chemistry

Joseph Weithers is serious sometimes.

Biology Department

Rothacker C. Smith, M.S.—Associate Professor of Biology

The curriculum is designed to give the student the necessary training that will prepare him to competently fill positions in high schools as biology instructor, and in the clinical and biological laboratories as a biologist; to satisfy the course requirements for medicine, dentistry, nursing, and home economics.

Tam McKenzie—Senior Lab Assistant

Dr. Lawrence Hundley—Associate Professor of Biology

Horace Walker and James Foster—two outstanding students in the Science Dept.

Prof. Smith is overlooking the progress of two of his students.

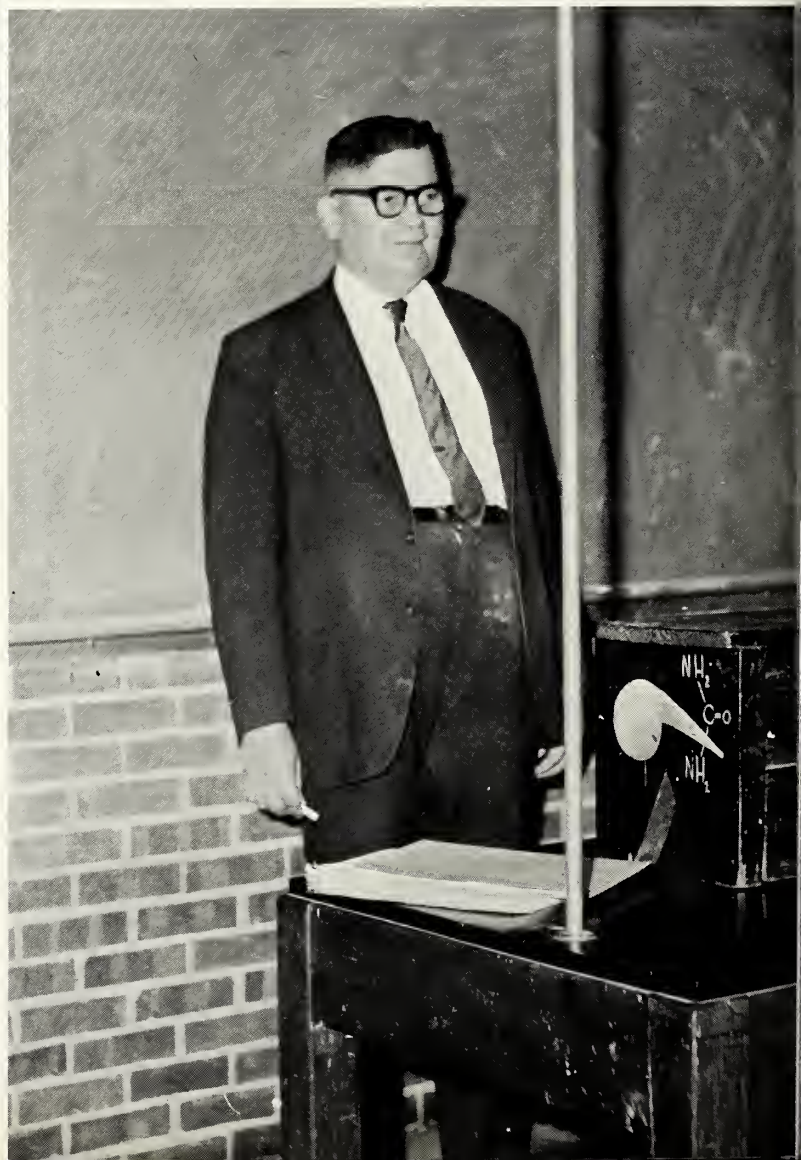

J. A. Blake, M.S.
Assistant Professor of Mathematics

R. M. Fiterie, Ph.D.
Professor of Mathematics

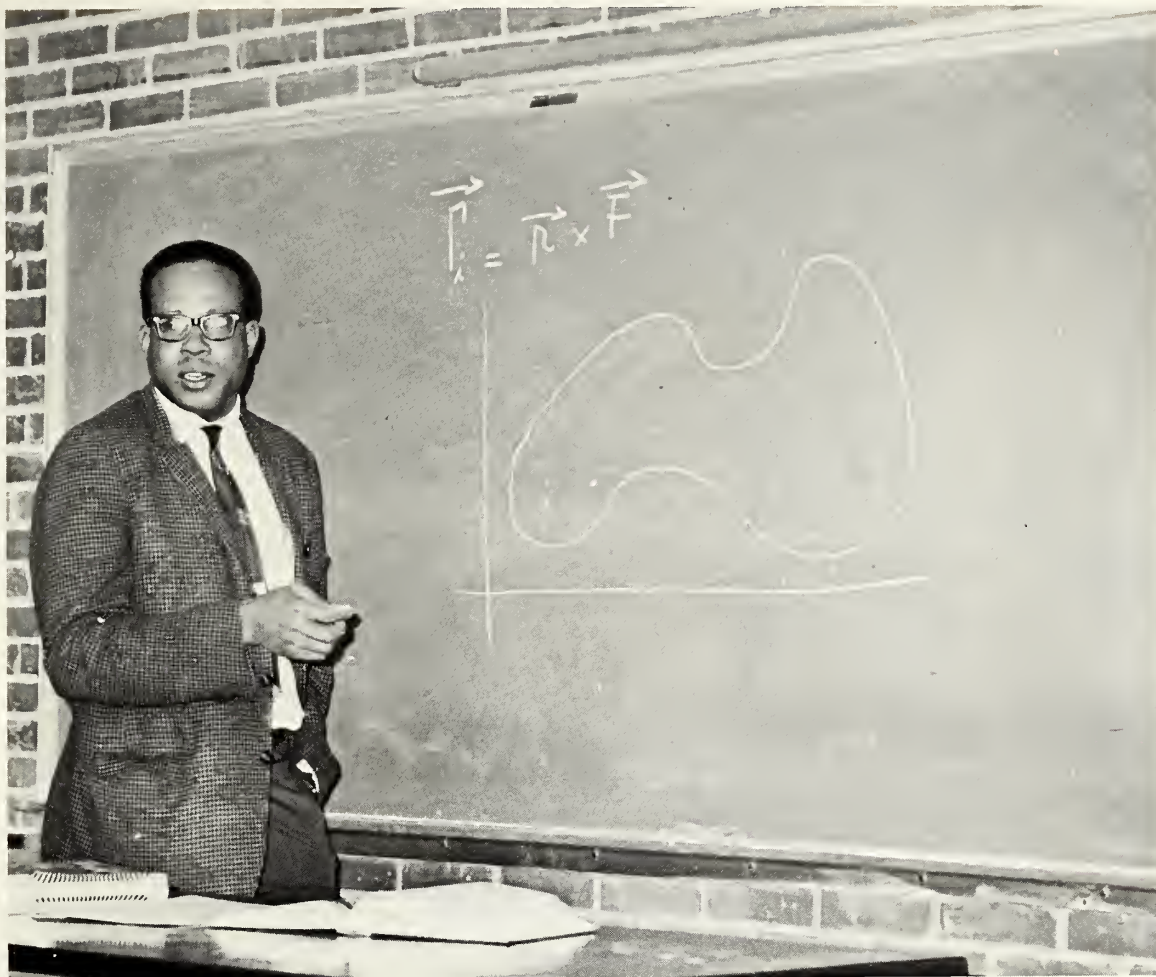

Mathematics may be classified according to two general categories, pure math and applied math. This department proposes to present these two points of view as a combined and unified whole.

The department further proposes to develop an appreciation by the student of the fact that the One who created and upholds the universe also made the integers and gave man the mental power and the will to develop the rest of what is called mathematics.

Physics

Dr. Howard Foster—Professor of Physics

And Mathematics

Kathleen Hall, M.S., Assistant Professor in Mathematics

Home Economics Department

This department is designed to better prepare young women to become good homemakers, as well as to enable them to teach in this field.

Sewing will really be an aid in the future, so these young ladies are learning now.

These young ladies are learning the correct table manners.

And now they prepare to eat from a beautifully set table.

Everybody seems to be enjoying the meal, well, almost everyone.

This is a perfectly set table.

Yes, we know you're happy that you're learning how to sew.

Theology & Speech

Elder C. T. Richards, B.D.
Head of the Religion Department

The courses in this department are designed to develop within the student a deep appreciation of the importance of the Bible in determining the true philosophy of life, to encourage the application of the teachings of Jesus to the problems of our day, and to provide training for candidates for the ministry and for Bible teaching.

Dr. Warren is preparing a speech test.
Mervyn A. Warren, Ph.D.

John J. Beale, M.A.
Assistant Professor of Religion

Elder Beale looks over his notes before going to Gift of Prophecy class.

Dr. Rogers expounds on Greek.

Ernest E. Rogers, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Biblical Languages

Physical

Education

James A. Roddy, B.A.
Instructor in Physical Education

Aeronautics

This program is designed to prepare students to receive the private pilot license and the commercial pilot license. A student may successfully complete the requirements for his license during one quarter or he may choose to complete the work over a period of two quarters or even three.

Bob Wise, Instructor in Aeronautics

Mr. Wise giving instructions to one of his students in aeronautics.

Medical Cadet Corps

R. E. Tottress, college chaplain, gives instruction in First Aid adapted to the needs of military service, physiology, hygiene and basic infantry drill.

I wonder if anyone is really listening to the teacher.

Students leave Moran Hall to go their separate ways.

Jean reads a story to her class.

Going to and from classes is sometimes a tiresome routine.

Now, really, the class is not that boring.

Okay, Melle, get back to your work.

As these students look into the future, they represent the other juniors who will one day become seniors, and come to the end of their journey at Oakwood.

Each senior at Oakwood College can be likened to a space rocket. After leaving the hallowed walls of this institution, the senior goes out into the unknown to begin a new life. And as this rocket is on its way to a specific destination, may you also, senior, have a goal in mind and may you prepare yourself to reach your destination. Much success to each of you.

Religion

As the sun hides its face behind the trees at the Oaks, the students prepare to welcome another Sabbath.

"Behold the Bridegroom Cometh," this program was presented for vespers with students from the Business office participating.

Vespers would not really be vespers without Gerald Penick at the organ.

Dean Marshall seems to be making worship a joy for the young ladies of Cunningham Hall.

Dean Thomas gives announcements before Alvin LaCount gives the worship thought.

Prayer circles can work wonders.

"Time To Awake"

(Theme for the Youth Week of Prayer)

These young men brought many wonderful messages to students for the Week of Prayer.

Mr. Michael Bernard was a dynamic speaker and was enjoyed by many.

The audience really felt the impact of Mr. Helvius Thompson's sermon.

Bible Conference

Oakwood students enjoy an afternoon of boating at Camp Cumby-Gay, Ga.

Sheryl assists a friend out of the boat.

U.S.M. President Niles (in tie) and Charles Allen cruise along.

These are members of the Florence group.

Celia Cleveland accompanies a soloist at the piano.

This group enjoys a singspiration in the park.

These are members of the jail band.

Samuel Branch, president of the Evangeleers.

Harold Gaskin, president of the Ministerial Seminar.

These are the members of a band who bring cheer and hope to the shut-ins.

Elder E. E. Cleveland has a very attentive audience as he talks to the student body during the annual Workshop.

Elder C. D. Henri, fall Week of Prayer Speaker and Pastor of the Berean S.D.A. Church, gives words of encouragement to Paul Baker.

Conference Presidents

Elder C. E. Bradford, president of the Lake Region Conference.

Elder G. N. Banks, secretary of the Regional Department of the Pacific Union Conference.

Elder W. S. Lee, president of the Central States Conference.

President's Message

An institution of learning besides providing opportunities for mental expansion, also considers it necessary to cater to the social and spiritual needs of its students.

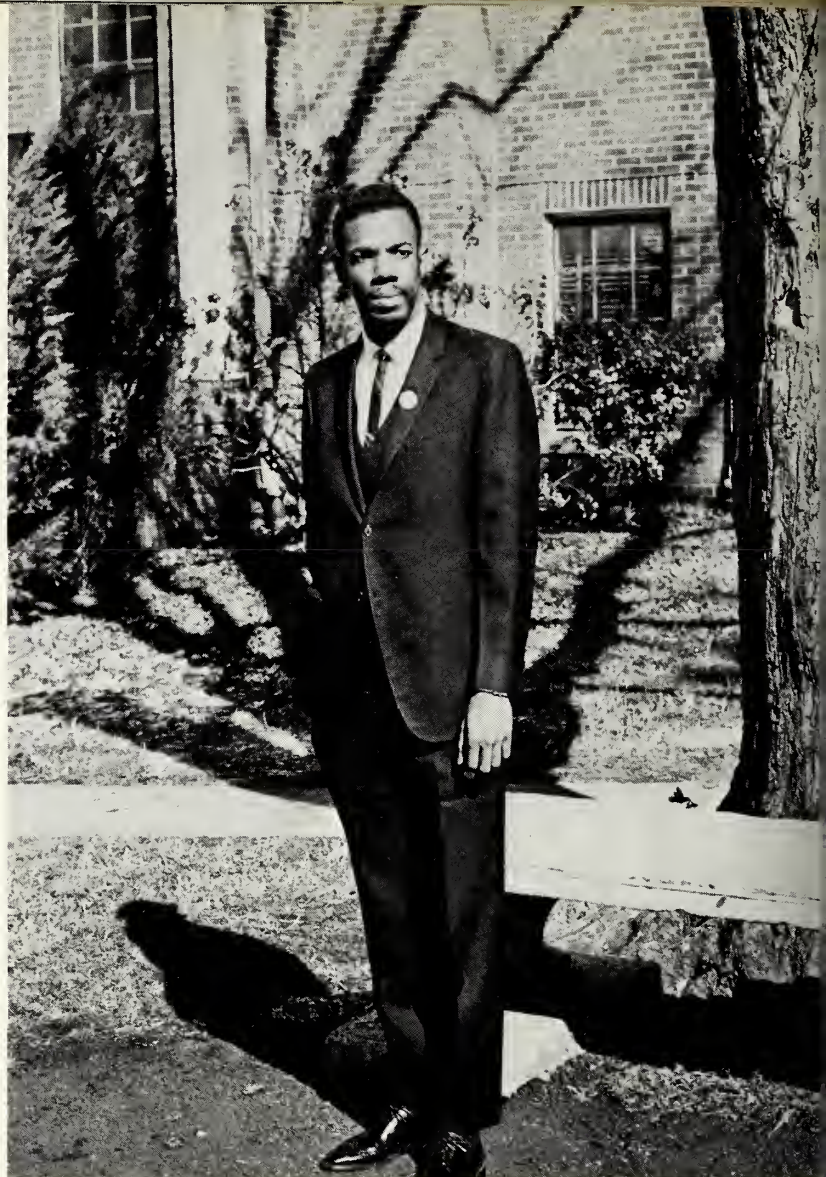

In the course of this program of development, one often experiences occasions which he desires to eternalize, and other moments which he wishes had never been. But beyond this he must measure his progress as well as that of the institution. He must determine that in his advancement he will also contribute to the advancement of his school.

And so as you leaf through this pictorial record of the year 1967-68 at "The Oaks," may your thoughts return to what was one of the happiest years of your life. May these pleasant memories ever linger with you, spurring you on to higher heights.

Messiah

Cheryl Galley and Stanley Ware sing a duet during the Messiah.

The choir raise their voices in praise of the Savior's birth.

Mrs. Booth, assisted by Gerald Penick, plays the organ as the choir sings.

Student Faculty Reception

These are students getting name tags, but we're wondering what Byron is waiting for. He has his on.

These smiles reflect the many warm receptions given.

We know some will be tired from so many handshakes.

Many different expressions can be seen as people wait for their refreshments.

The refreshment table won't look like this for long.

These eyes look longingly at the food.

During the Yuletide season, Peterson Hall is aglow with the spirit of Christmas.

Services

Food Service

Mrs. Hardy, behind the scene, works to prepare a good meal.

The College Cafeteria is always full at this time of the day.

Horace Walker selects his food.

Yes, preparations are being made for our daily meals.

Mr. Lake, are you sure there's nothing more to do?

Some people just get carried away at meal time.

Really, Philip, do you know what you're doing?

Listen to Caesar, girls, he might know what he's talking about.

Ah, young ladies, could you possibly be waiting for some fellows?

My, my! What a twosome. Here's Jett and Brenda Newson.

College Store

Harry Swinton

Virginia catches the gleam in Anthony's eye.

Harold and Freddie think of their distant loves.

Keith finally catches on.

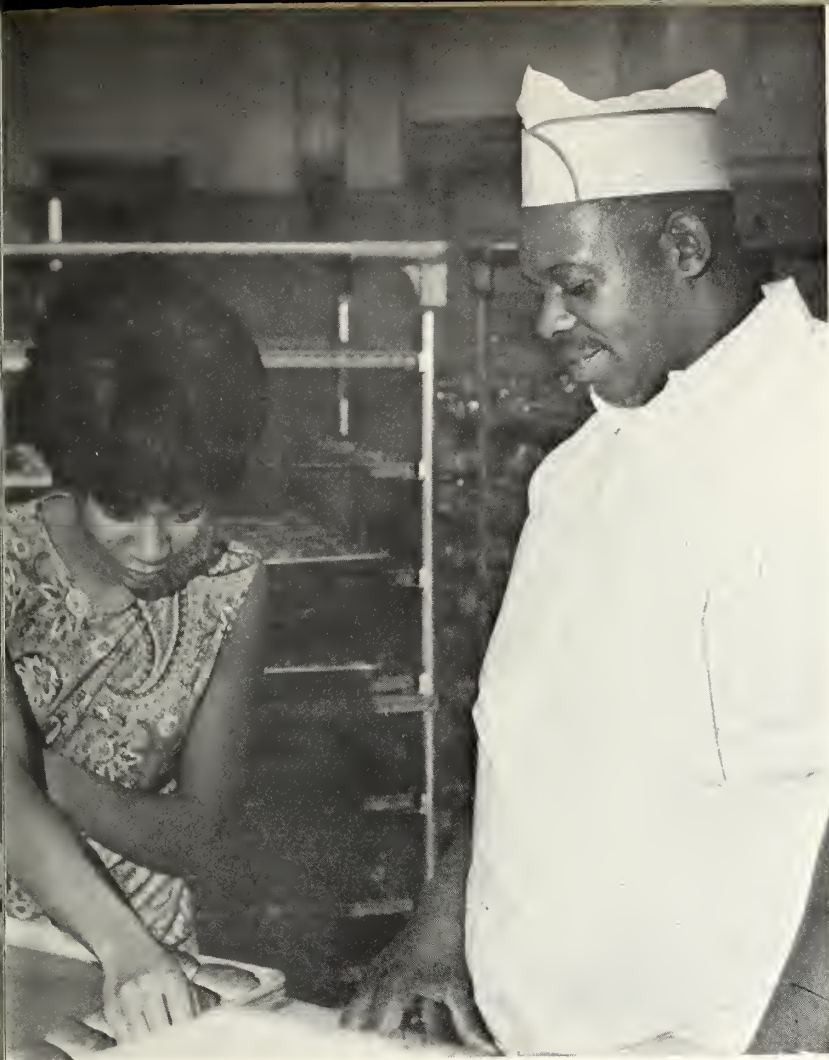

Philip gets postage to notify parents that he will be coming home soon.

Empty store must mean empty pockets for Oakwood students.

Bakery

Mr. Calhoun supervises Pinkie as she makes rolls.

Mr. Calhoun inspects freshly-baked bread.

This is the entrance to the bakery.

These contented cows supply the college students with milk products.

This is the dairy at the college.

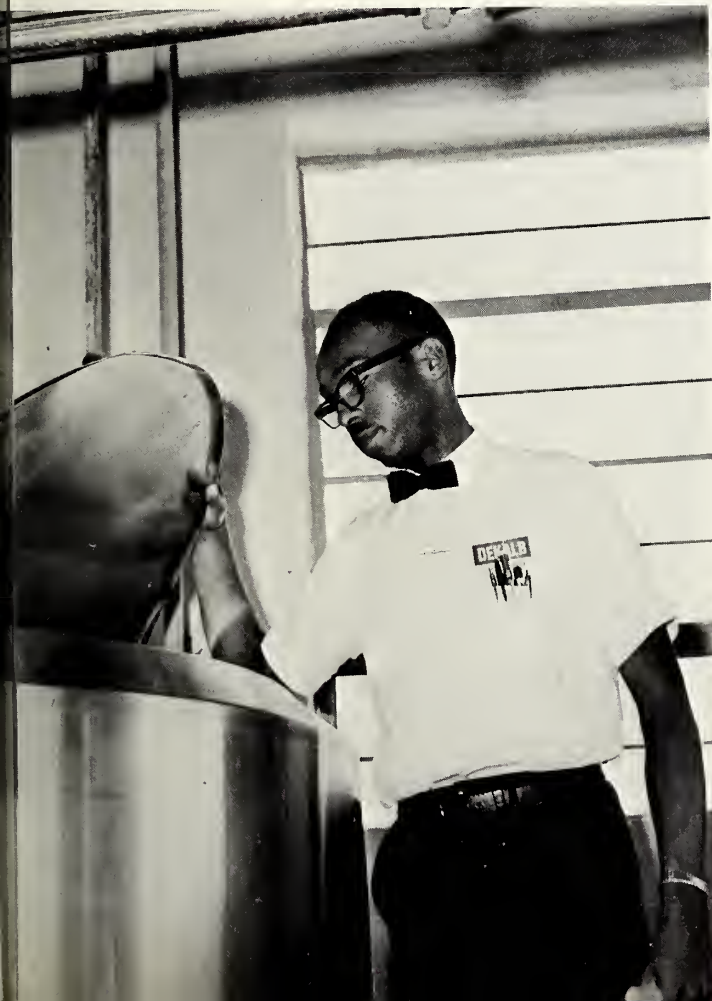

Dairy

Yes, Danny, the pasture extends far beyond that point.

Mr. Dobbins, manager of the Dairy, inspects the milk before it is packaged for consumption.

At O.C. even Tyrone has a job to do.

Maintenance Department

James Holloway, supervisor of grounds, and one of his workers inspect equipment.

Some of Oakwood's diligent student secretaries work in this department.

Men of distinction do this kind of work.

Both men and women like this job.

Well, fellows, let's get this place clean.

Without this heating-plant, Oakwood would be a very miserable place to stay.

Do you have school spirit? The Business Club and the Behavioral Science Club has started the ball rolling. Saturday night's basketball game was second only to the Old vs New a couple of weeks ago. Students of both clubs supported their club with vigorous spirit.

The president of the Behavioral Science Club invites all other clubs to begin promoting school spirit. The B.S.C. is interested in its school. They say this is our school, and if we don't take pride in it, neither will any one else.

Peterson Hall

David finds time to read while his clothes wash.

Television captivates them all—except for one.

The home is made beautiful by industrious hands.

Boy! Who said that one had to be dressed to pick up mail?

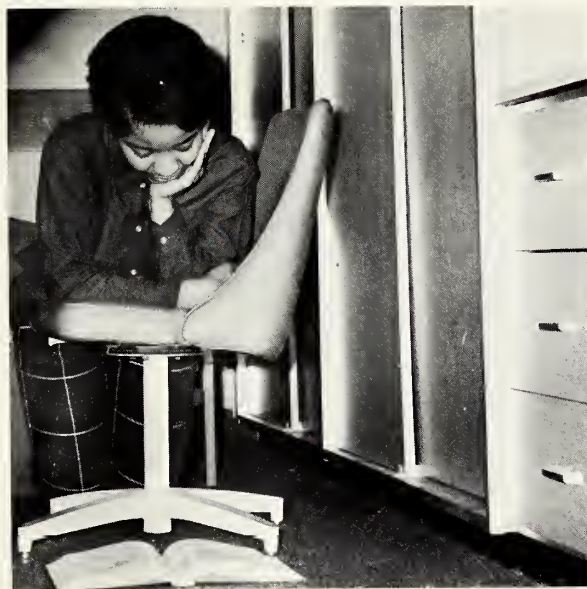

Carter Hall

These roommates study the "Word" to show themselves approved.

Now there's music to study with, Patience.

Her studies have really gotten her down.

Who knows what she is studying? Only her professor will know for sure.

What does Sylvia have in the bottle?

Cunningham Hall

The Christmas spirit is reflected in Cunningham Hall.

She prefers to go out rather than study.

Why not wear your skirt this length, Bernadene?

Richard, shall we overcome the books?

Hey! Maybe you should share the joke.

Through the lens of a telescope you can see many wonders.

Reverse Week

Patience has a double load!

Frank, I don't think that Joyce is going to sweep.

What a thrill they get from seeing a woman work!

Don't fret, girls, it won't last long.

Those guys are really taking it in strides.

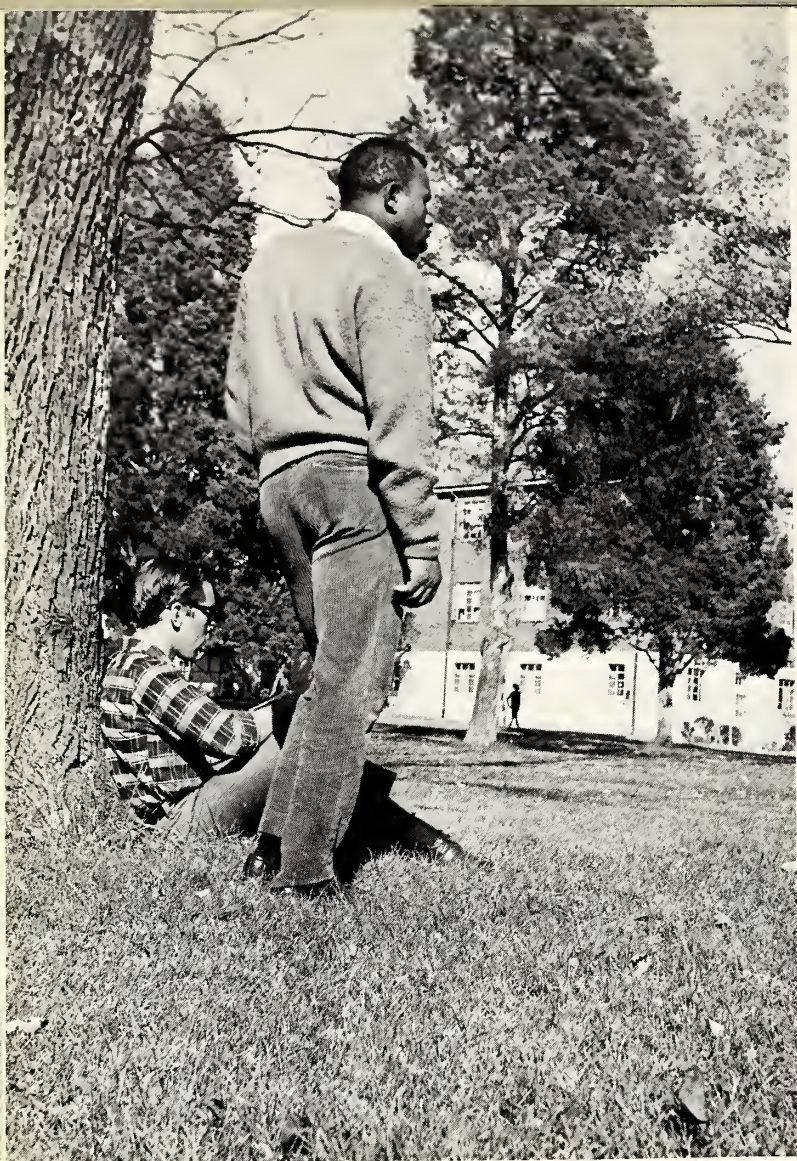

Snowball game has many fans.

One class is over, and there's one more class to go to.

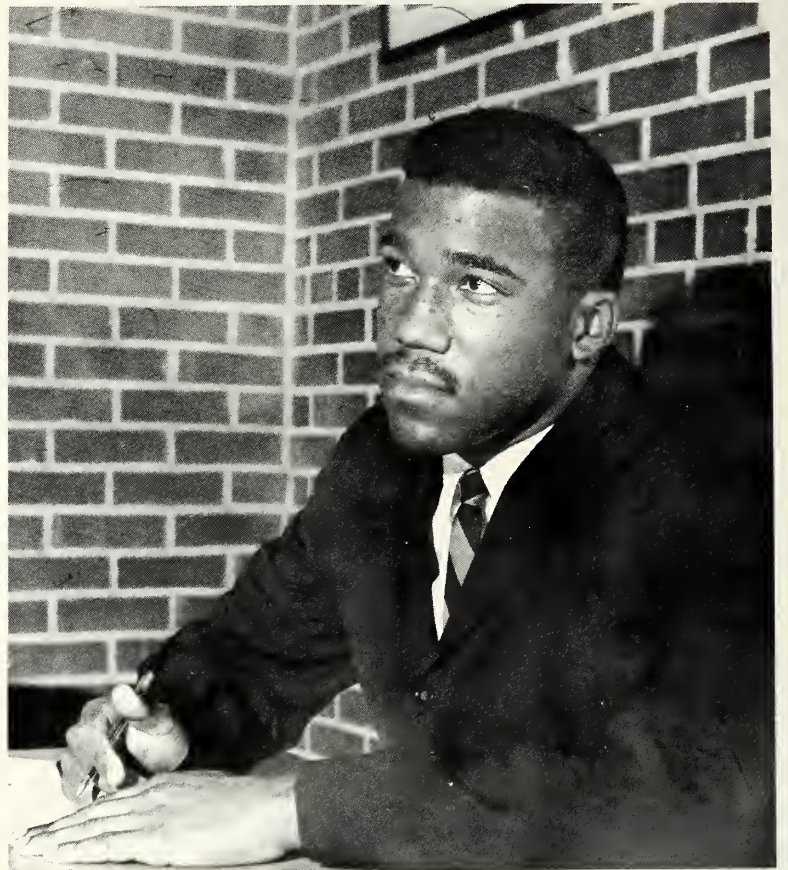

These fellows are taking it easy.

There is nothing like taking it easy on a nice day.

James contemplates his future as a medical doctor.

.... and you said you could drive.

Remember we're vegetarians, Ronnie.

Before Chapel begins, interest is diverted in many directions.

Didn't you know that I am a jack-of-all-trades?

To whom is Joe aiming the blow?

Is this a snowman or a snow-animal?

Jones lends a helping hand.

Soup makes a poster for the Behavioral Science Club.

The patience of these future teachers seems to be diminishing.

Miss Emanuel still graces our campus.

So you represent Omega Sigma Psi!

"Yes, I enjoy doing my job," says Foster.

10:30 and Phillip is still going strong.

Balloons were an added attraction at the Ingathering Kick-off.

Fellows, could you give me a hand, I am out of gas.

Faye takes time off to chat with Jimmy.

Alfonso goes to extreme in taking pictures.

Some people can study anywhere.

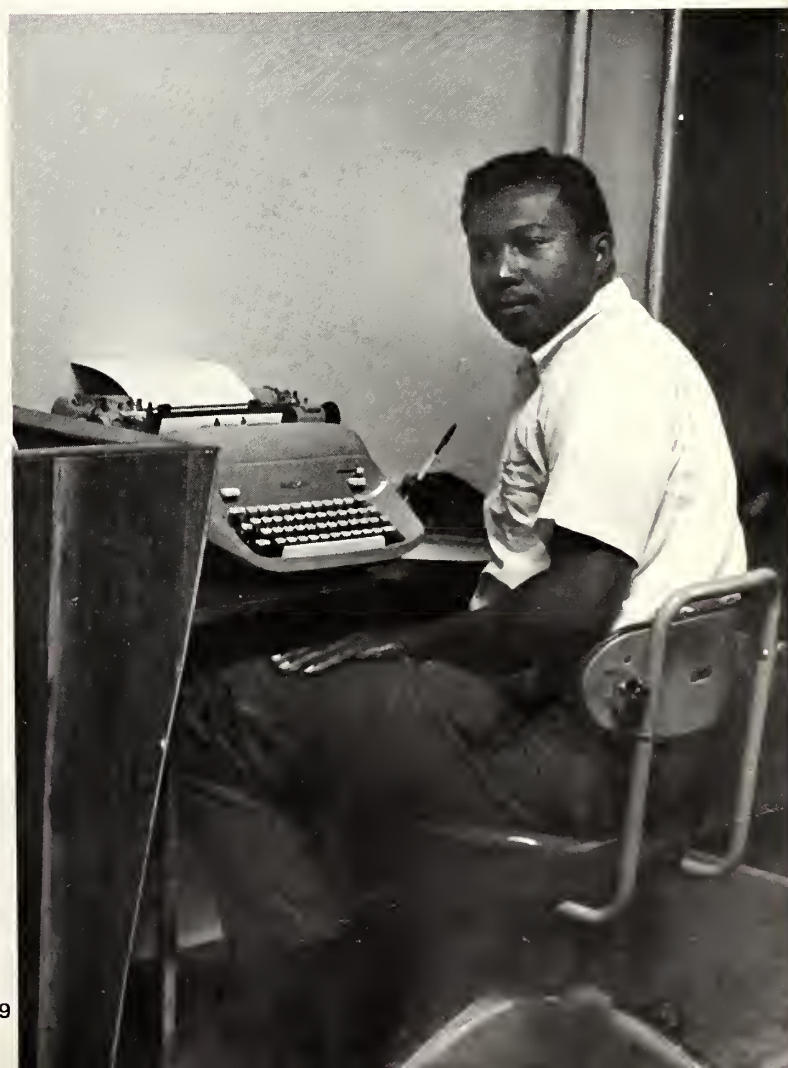

Well, Patience, how does it taste?

The snow really makes the campus look deserted.

Guess what he is thinking about.

I do this work when Russell isn't around.

Faculty Workshop

Mrs. Ruth Green, guest speaker for the session.

Miss Eunice Vanderberg and Mrs. J. J. Beale, along with others, composed a group which discussed "Formal Social Behavior."

Miss Carrie Davis and M. Warren, group leaders, discuss "Personal Grooming" with other members of the group.

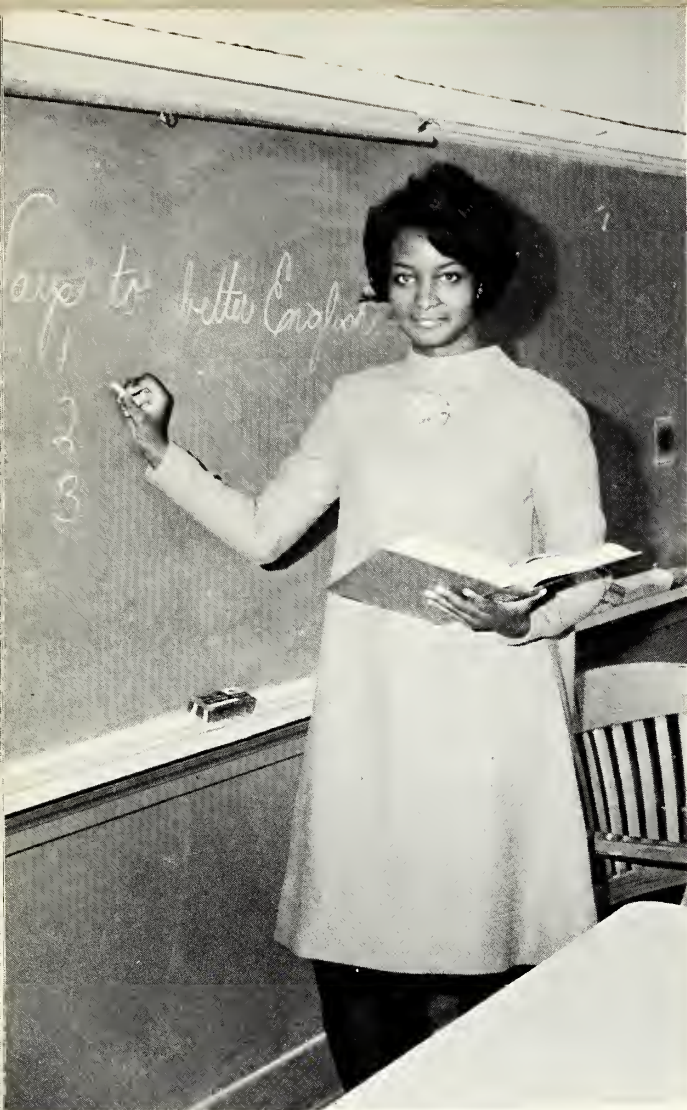

Elder J. J. Beale talks to his group concerning "Church Decorum."

*Mr. and Miss
Senior Class*

Miss Eardell Rashford

Mr. Calvin Campbell

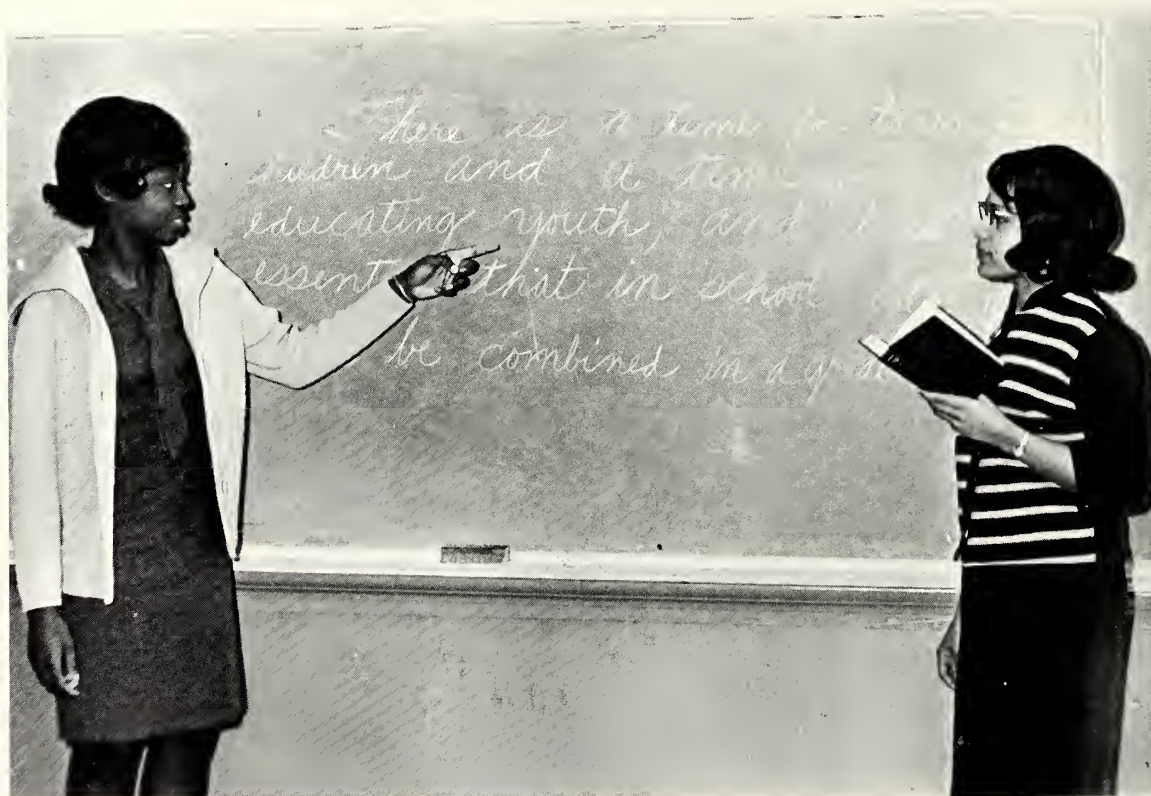

Joan instructs her students in English.

Florestine seems rather pleased with the progress her students are making in English.

Erma Walker and Kathern Daniels fully believe that the training of children is a great and important task.

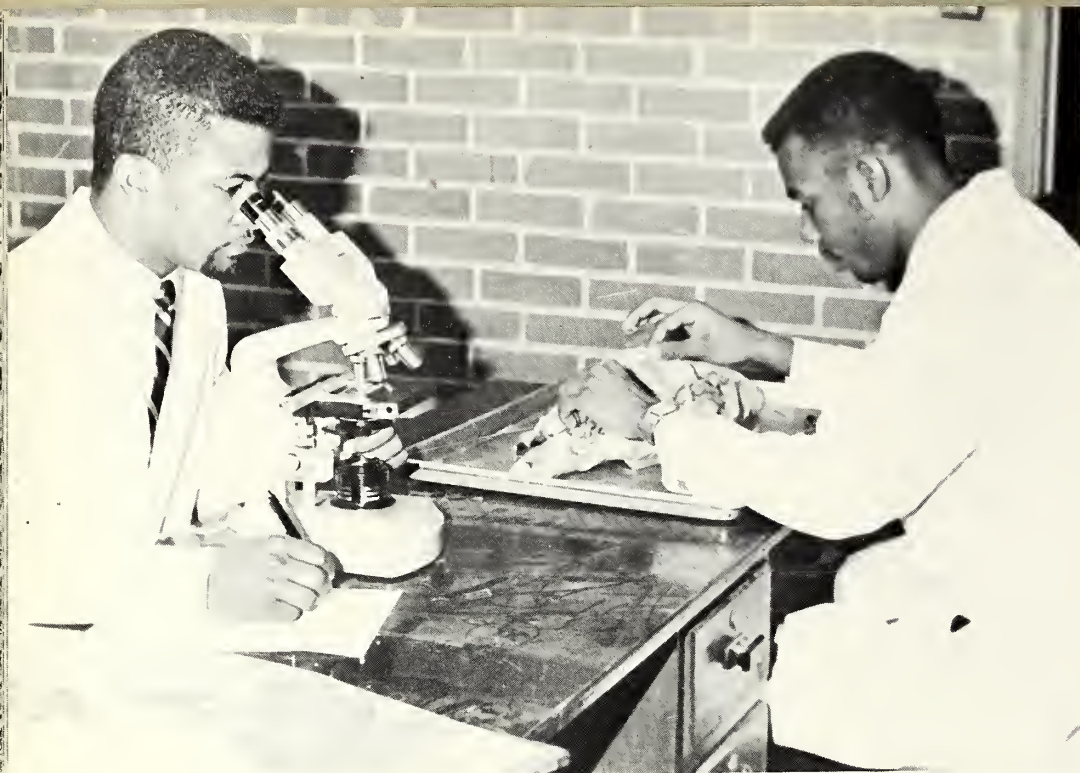

Beverly Gilbert will one day take her place among other secretaries in the nation.

Byron Herbert is about to take his place in the business world.

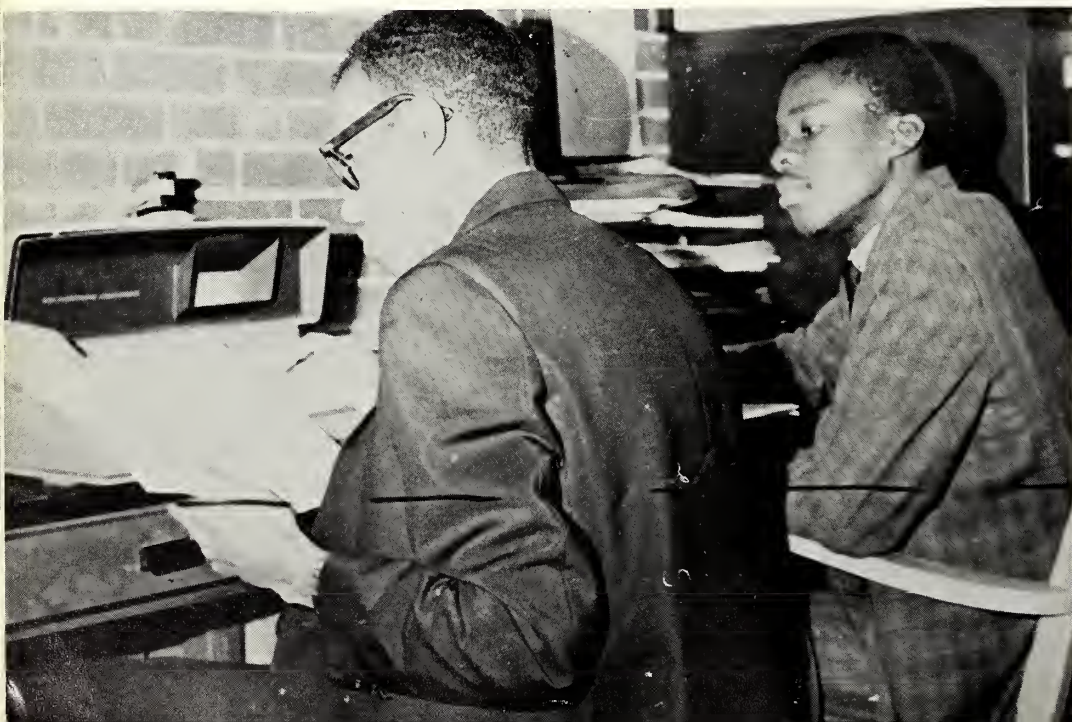

Helen Florence, Patience Barnes, and Ken Daniels know that without the typewriter, businesses could not progress.

These future scientists are products of Oakwood. Gabriel Hunt is drawing from the microscope while Joseph Weithers concentrates on his dissection.

Nyoka is watching her titration carefully so as not to miss the correct end point.

James Smith is doing calculating on the Electronic Calculator in the Math Department; Furman Jones looks on.

Donald Monroe is going to his class in the Social Work Department.

Simons and Wilson discuss important Bible texts which they consider vital in the ministry.

Gracie Monroe instructs her Academy class in math.

These seniors are preparing themselves to go out into the world and help their fellow man.

To A Soldier

As I saw you standing there,
Shoulders erect and head high,
A feeling of gratefulness came into my heart
That soldiers like you exist.

Uncle Sam must be very happy to have chosen you;
The country will profit from your service.

It's hard for me to say what qualifications
you really need,
But I do know that your uncle wants
strong men—
Men who are willing to obey the commands
of others,
Men who will risk their lives for their country,
Men who are able to serve and to help win
the victory.

Soldier, you met these qualifications, and so they chose you.

There is a lot of responsibility upon you,
soldier,
For you see, you are in two armies:
God also has chosen you.
He is training you for the great event which lies ahead for His people.
I trust you are learning your lessons well;
I hope you will ask your Teacher for help
When trials and disappointments come,
and you don't understand.
He will tell you why;
He will guide and direct you, soldier,
so you need not fear.

The way will seem hard at times; but remember,
At the end of the road there will be a reward;
There always is.

And the reward that I hope you are preparing for most
Is life eternal in your Father's home.

So do your best, soldier,
For you have an uncle, you have a Father.
And you have a friend, all counting on you.

Soccer

Foster's team looks impatient as they await the start of the delayed soccer game.

Buddy is preparing to join the game.

All eyes are now focused on Mapp as he attempts to score a goal.

Vaz makes a brilliant mid-air save.

It may be only a few, but soccer does attract some students.

All heads go up for the ball in the closing moments of play.

Table-Tennis

Where is the ball, Cooper?

Jackson is delivering a perfect back-bend slam.

Basketball

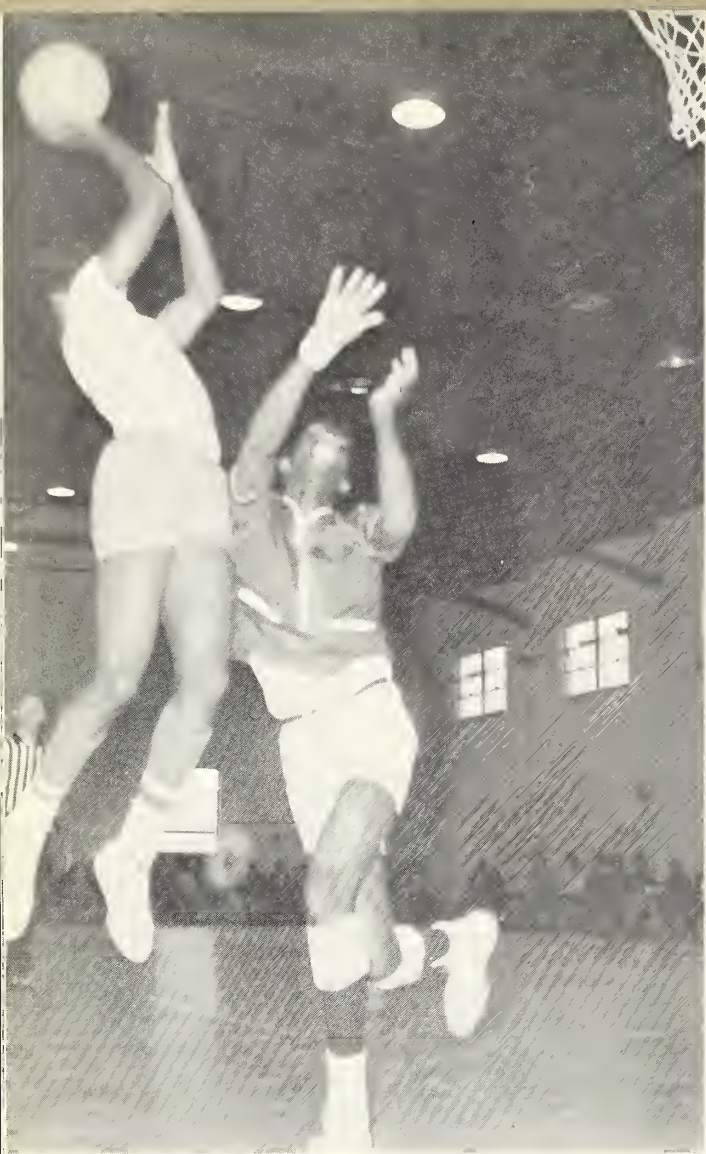

Buford Griffith lays two points in the basket.

Hands go up for a rebound.

No wonder Sonny is a good basketball player, he is in the gym all the time.

This guy must get two more points for his team or else he just might quit playing basketball.

Skating time is over and attention should be focused on the basketball game.

There are some people at Oakwood who can play softball anywhere and with any kind of base.

Skating

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." So here we come with our skates.

I wonder what Allen is waiting for.

This couple is trying to get their last skate in before the gym closes.

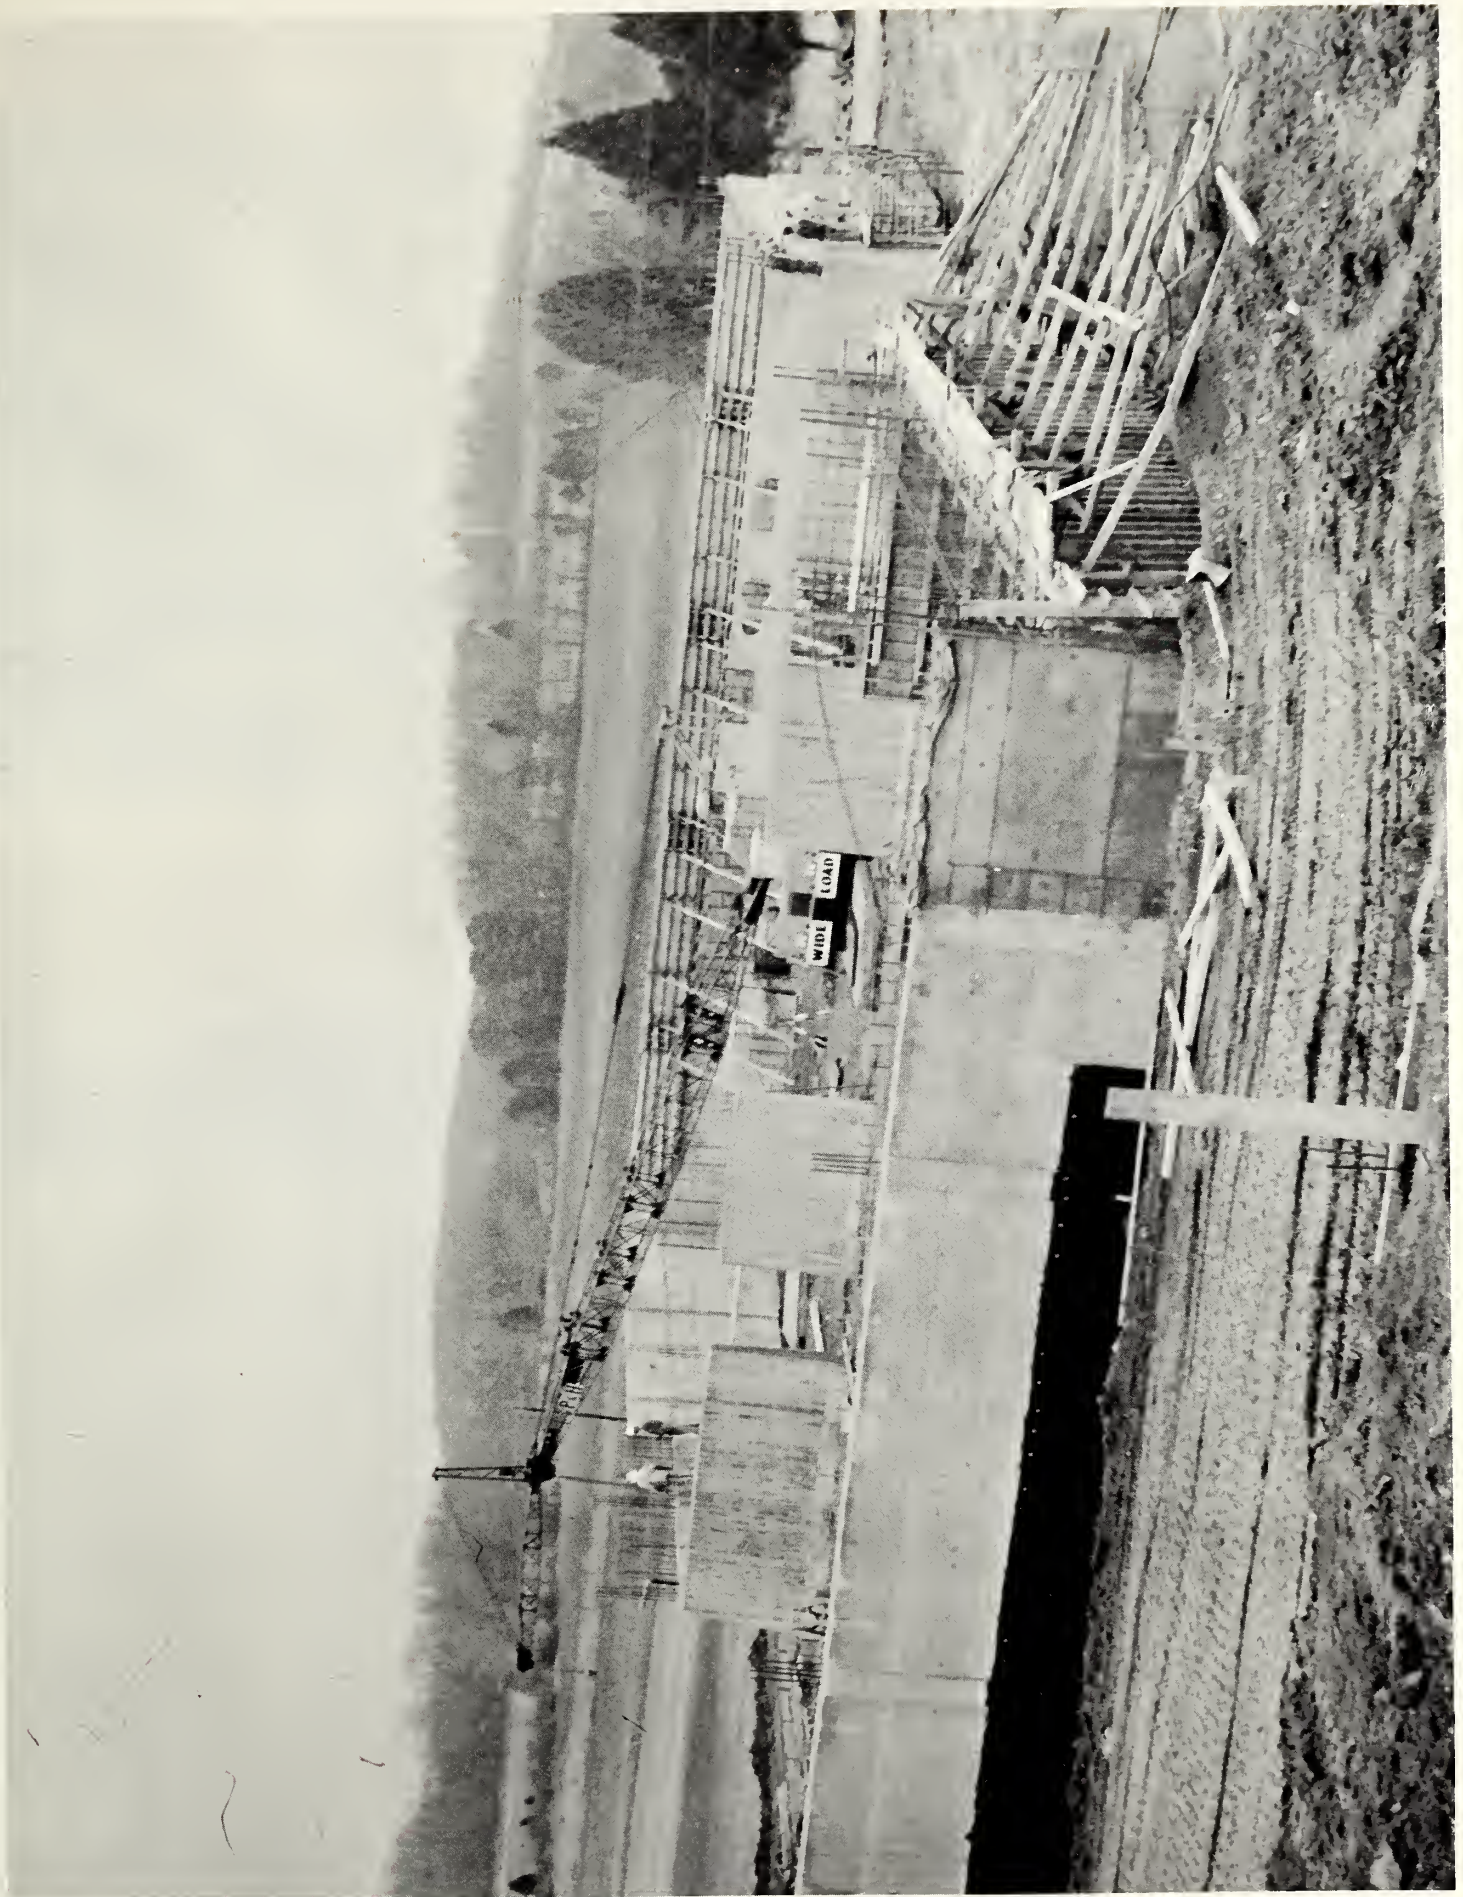

The poised stance of this couple gives no indication of the swirling fun they enjoy when skating accompanied by the rhythmic tune of "Moon River."

With Gerald at the organ, you can be sure of good music at skating parties.

Everybody has a partner, except Garland Cobb.

This picture indicates the amount of progress made on the new building. This building should be completed by September of '68.

Library

Elverton Mapp prepares for one of his classes.

"May I help you, Linda?"

All of these books are needed for just one term paper.

Would you believe she is reading only for pleasure?

Gerald and Celia discuss the important events in Carter Hall's Parlor.

The girls are having a good time in the lounge of Cunningham Hall.

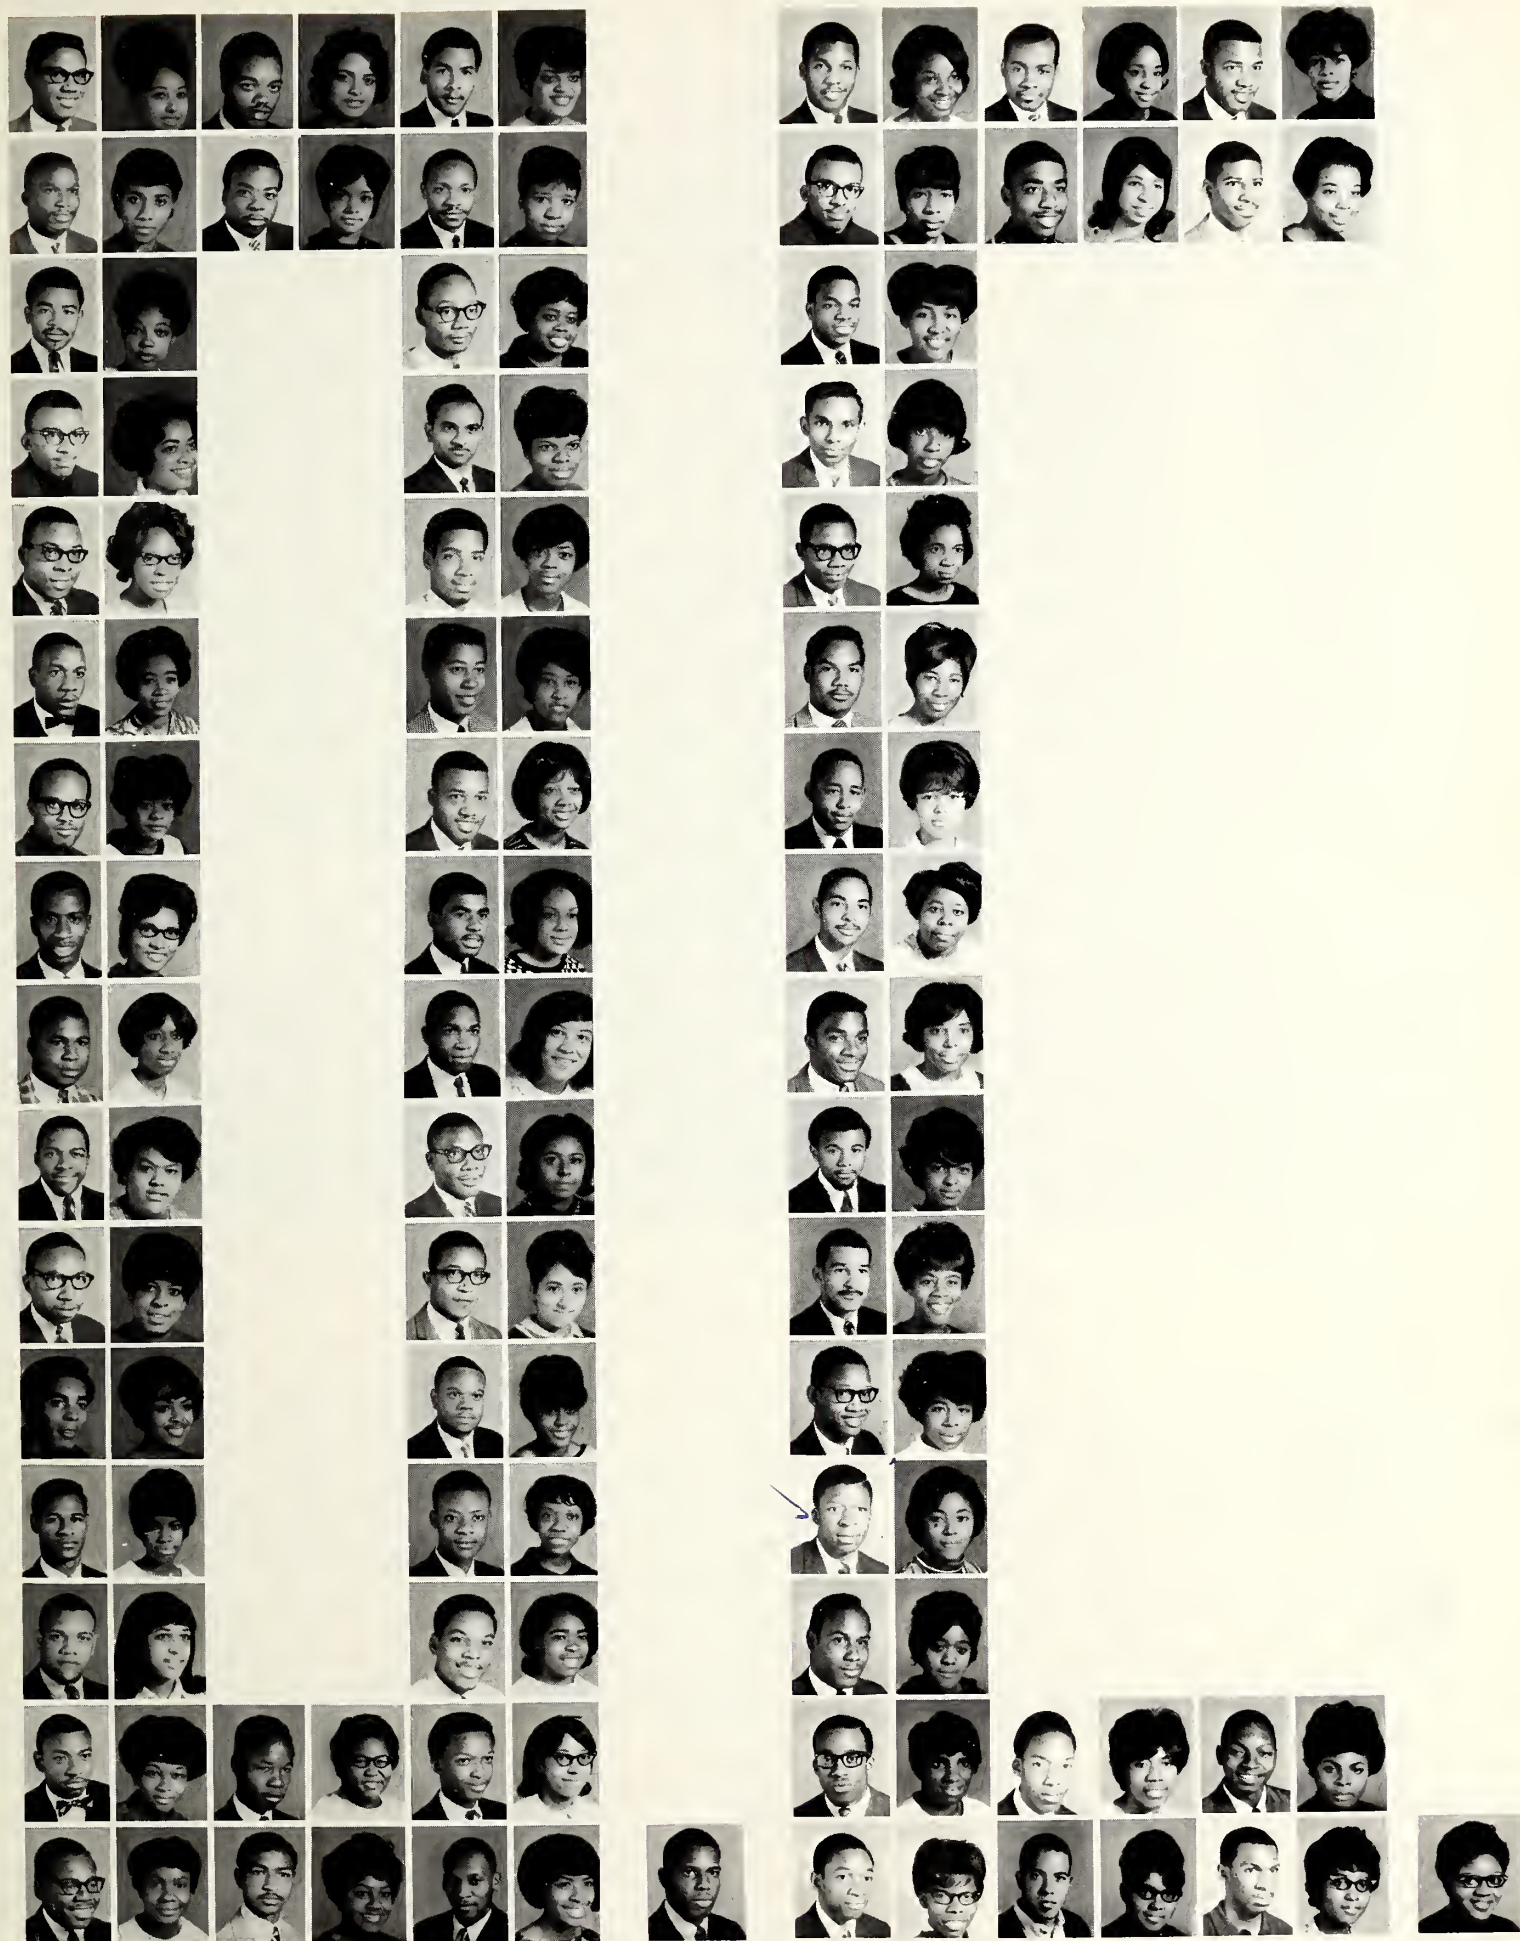

In the Student Center, students find time to enjoy the friendship of others. The students in the picture above are playing "Sorry."

Other students sometimes prefer to be alone. Here John is pictured reading from the Bible.

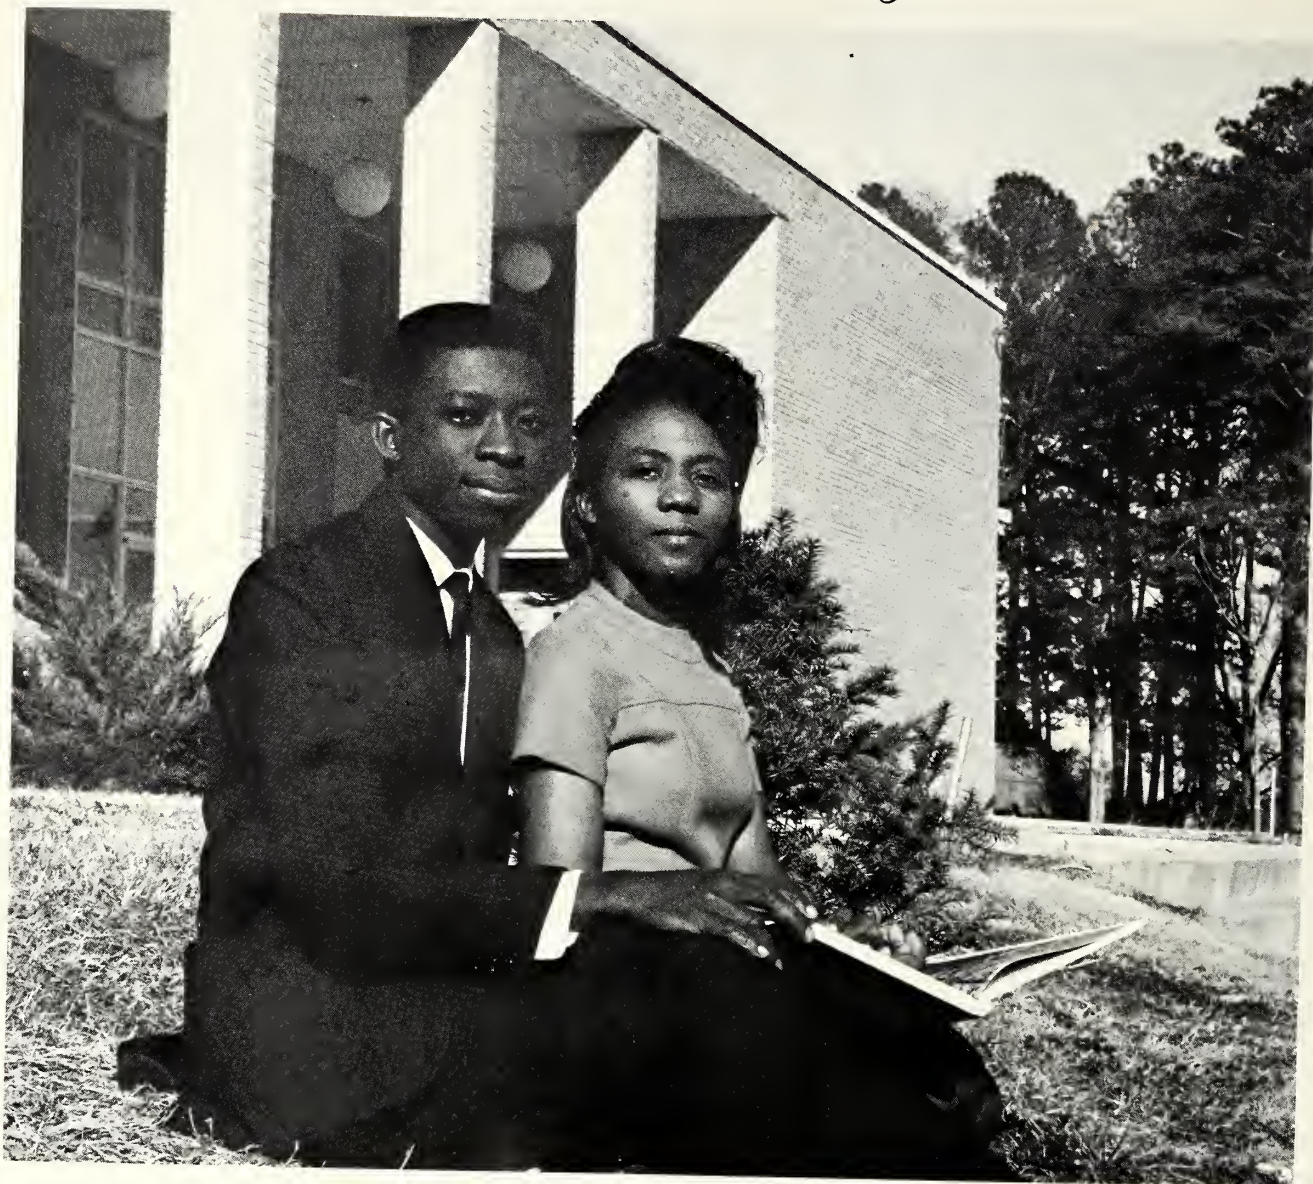

Others at O. C. prefer to sit and relax their minds while others work to bring them entertainment.

Here are a few of the familiar faces that make Oakwood College.

Editors' Message

Irene Bowie and Amos Okrah pause a moment and reflect on the last few months of hard work which went into the making of this year's ACORN.

As we look back on the long hours spent in preparing this book, we can see that each moment spent has been well worth the time and effort.

This year we are indebted to a host of people who were instrumental in making this book possible. Without the efforts of Mrs. Frankie Clay, our sponsor, this book would not have been a success. Alfonso Small and David Payne put in long hours taking the pictures. Darlene Herring, Pearlie Greer and Sharon Mitchell all deserve special mention. We cannot really repay you and the other members of this year's ACORN Staff for the services you have given in making the publication of this book a reality, but please accept our gratitude and sincere thanks.

This school year is about to come to a close and with it comes the end of another ACORN. The theme of our book this year has been "Progress." As you have glanced through the first 176 pages (24 additional pages will follow in the summer, making a total of 200) we hope you have caught a glimpse of the progress that Oakwood College is making.

It is our prayer that you, the reader, will do all you can to help Oakwood to continue to progress in the years that lie ahead.

Elder Brooks, Fall Week of Prayer Speaker.

Dr. M.L. King, Jr.

Martin Luther King was born January 15, 1929 in Atlanta, Georgia, the son of a Baptist minister. He graduated from Morehouse College 1948 at the age of 19. His first active part in civil rights leadership came in 1956 when he led a Negro boycott against the Montgomery bus line.

From his first activity in Montgomery to his final moments in Memphis; not too far in this era of transportation, but in terms of living, the adult life span of Martin Luther King, Jr. was covered.

All right!
Who stepped on my bifocals?

Don't worry about your invention, Mr. Franklin.

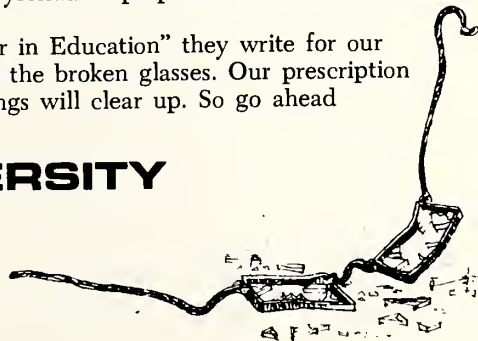

Take a look, with or without your bifocals—you'll be surprised. We know quite well the Franklin enthusiasm for the arts and sciences, but you should know a thing or two about us. It's our business helping people see better, too. An education at Andrews improves one's vision bifocally—in the now and for the future. But we go even further than that. With both a local and a worldwide view we train people to see themselves better (you might call it insight), and they in turn help others (we call it foresight). So we salute you, Ben; your passion for human betterment inspires us. Thus we are committed to excellence as reflected in • A qualified and devoted faculty • A Christian fraternity of scholars • Research in depth • Graduate degrees in Biological Science, Business Administration, Chemistry, Education, English, French, History and Political Science, Home Economics, Mathematics, Music, Physics, Religion, and Speech • Opportunities for Christian service • Systematic preparation for vocations and professions.

When people want to see "Something Better in Education" they write for our Bulletin, free for the asking. So, Ben, forget the broken glasses. Our prescription for better vision is highly personalized. Things will clear up. So go ahead and smile.
